Between Us

It's one thing to be able to do something, and another to do it just right. And the past week at the recital Mrs. Lewis gave, Virginia Rushing told the story of Cinderella to the children on the stage and also to the audience, and she did an excellent job of it.

Virginia is to give her senior recital in speech during the spring. Although her family had hopes of her going on the college, she is hoping to be in training soon after graduation for a nurse. And an sure she would make an excellent one. Quite a pretty girl, too.—The seniors are making plans for their different recitals, and Kim Johnston is giving his trumpet recital on a Sunday afternoon, which certainly seems a very appropriate time.—So many of our young men are already making plans for summer school, as they can finish in shorter time, and the boys who are at Emory have made definite plans to attend summer school at Teachers College.

This summer along with many of the girls and boys who are just finishing high school this spring—it will soon be time for the seniors to have their annual Field Day, and April first find kids on parade in clothes identical to those they wore only a few years ago to grammar school.—Two "little" look much alike.

to be twins, and who are almost the same size, were out on Sunday dressed as twins in most attractive navy skirts, Scotch wool jackets and Scotch caps to match, little Lynn and Pat Murphy, and they were getting their share of attention.—The yards over town are pretty in spite of the freeze, and so many of the prettiest yards are hidden from view, the Cromatic back yard is a mass of brilliant shrub and many other places are in full bloom with it. Gardeners are busy, and before many weeks we will be seeing the results of their efforts.

Several weeks ago our editor wrote some verses in his paper about his old home, which were sort of on the doleful side and different from the characteristic light touch of his pen. Incidentally (he knows nothing about it) we are waiting now for him to write something more characteristic of him. Although a few years older than most of us, he has never lost the gift of seeing things in the light of youth, and we are expecting some lighter verses on his editorial page.

—Recently we made an appeal through this column for some articles for the Service Club, and the club had such a good response we are appealing this week for the women who are interested in the club (and who of us are not?) to bring a saucer, cup and glass and give to the club. It doesn't have to match anybody else's pattern, and if you have any of these at home, just bring the one you have at home, just bring the one you have at home, just bring the one you have at home.

The club is hoping to soon start serving the men light refreshments along, and as yet don't have any of these articles.—Don't forget this and your first trip down town drop by and leave these, and look the club over. Let's do this for someone else's boy as a hundred in other places have done for our loved ones.—Will see you AROUND TOWN.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO HAVE OPEN HOUSE

The Statesboro Woman's Club will hold the first community open house in the library room Thursday evening, March 18, at eight o'clock. Miss Marie Jo Jones, head of the dramatic department of the Teachers College, will read "Junior Miss." Everyone is invited to attend.

MRS. MANN ATTENDS HER SON'S WEDDING

Mrs. L. C. Mann, of Durham, N. C., has returned to continue her visit with Miss Eunice Lester after spending a few days in Panama City, Fla., where she went to attend the wedding of her son, Malcolm Mann, and Miss Ann Peak, which took place there March 6th.

DINNER FOR VISITORS

J. D. Allen, 306 Savannah avenue, entertained with a stag dinner at his home Tuesday evening of last week in honor of his brother, S. A. Allen. The following Union Gap officers were present: Albert Ernest, Elmer Dyal, D. F. Stewart and Baron Sanders. Other guests included S. A. Allen and Clyde Poppeil, of Savannah, and C. P. Oliff and J. L. Renfro, of Statesboro. The table was artistically arranged with a center of spring flowers. Mr. Renfro was guest speaker, with short talks followed by Mr. Ernest and Mr. Dyal.

REGISTER YOUNG MAN MARRIES NORFOLK GIRL

Mrs. Roxie Emswiler Palmer, of Harrisonburg, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Charlotte Louise Emswiler, of Norfolk and Harrisonburg, to Gerald Dekle, United States navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Dekle, of Register, Ga. The wedding took place February 20 in South Mills, N. C. Mr. and Mrs. Dekle are residing temporarily at 318 Ward avenue, Norfolk.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR HI SCHOOL LUNCH ROOM

A benefit dance will be given Friday evening, March 19, at the High School gymnasium, sponsored by Mrs. Emt Atkins and Mrs. Bonnie Morris, with the proceeds being used to buy dishes and kitchen equipment for the lunch room. The dance will be given from 9 until 12 o'clock, with music by Marion Carpenter's Orchestra. Tickets will be one dollar per couple; half price for the college and high school students, and twenty-five cents a person for spectators. This is a very worthy cause, so come and dance so there will be new dishes for the lunch room and the children won't have to use chipped ones.

VISITORS FOR WEEK END

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Clark spent a few days last week as guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Clark. Mrs. Clark returned Monday to her home in Atlanta and Mr. Clark left Monday for a military post in San Antonio, Texas. Lt. G. W. Clark Jr. left Wednesday for San Francisco after a few days' visit with his parents.

SUPPER FOR BILL ALDRED

An enjoyable occasion of the week was the steak supper given by Bernard Morris at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Morris, as a compliment to Bill Aldred, who leaves Friday for induction in the army. King Alfred daffodils were used as decorations for the home. Covers were placed for Mr. Aldred, Robert Groover, Hal Macon Jr., Harold Hagins, John Darley and Bernard Morris. After the supper the group attended the picture show.

Seed Money

There's only one thing more foolish than killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. That's living up the money that has been put away to buy the seed for next year's crops.

Although G-E turbines and lamps and refrigerators don't grow from any seed you can buy at a seed store, yet any manufacturer—no matter what he makes—has a seed problem just the same. For next year's models, and improved designs, and new products—all these cost money. Money for research, and engineering, and new tools, and advertising to tell the public where a product can be obtained, and how much it will cost.

And the only place this money can come from is out of past earnings, or borrowing on the promise of earnings in the future. In other words—from seed money.

From the seed of research and engineering, planted in years past, by General Electric, have come some pretty amazing crops. Incandescent lamps five times as efficient as Edison's vacuum tubes that made radiobroadcasting possible, refrigerators for the home and electric machines for industry to make important jobs easier.

Right now the crops we're growing are all of the "Victory Garden" kind—weapons that are serving with our armed forces on land and sea and in the air.

But we mustn't neglect the seed money for the future. We're looking forward to the continuance of the industrial system that will allow us to open up and cultivate other new and promising fields. So, tomorrow, look for important developments in television, fluorescent lighting, plastics, electronics. These will be familiar words in the post-war world. GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, N. ## FREEZER-LOCKER PLANT DISCUSSED

One of the most interesting meetings ever held in this section was that of Monday night, March 15th, when C. M. Morgan, the vocation agriculture teacher, with the assistance of Miss Elizabeth Biles, the home economics teacher, and Miss Irma Spears, Bulloch county home demonstration agent, held a meeting to discuss a freezer-locker plant and its possible installation on the Nevils school campus.

Great interest was shown by the presence of so many enthusiastic farmers taking part in the discussion.

Miss Spears told how the freezer-locker would preserve and conserve meats, fruits and vegetables the year round. Miss Biles named the varieties of vegetables that were excellent taken from a freezer-locker.

Mr. Morgan presented plans for organizing and contacting the interested people and familiarizing them with the financial procedure in erecting a plant.

The following committees were appointed, according to bus routes, to contact the people, distribute printed information and recommend stockholders:

Bear Ford route—Delmas Rushing, H. C. Hurns and H. H. Godbee.

Young bus—John B. Anderson and Robert F. Young.

Starling bus—Marcus D. May and Carl Iler.

Town of Nevils—Miss Maude White, Ethan D. Proctor, J. T. Martin, C. J. Martin and Donald Martin.

Futch bus—N. J. Cox, R. L. Roberts and B. J. Futch.

Lanier bus—J. C. Brown and Rufus Brannen.

WARTIME FOOD MANNERS

TO SOP OR NOT TO SOP: It is not a "faux pas" today to use bread to "sop up" the gravy or vegetable juices. It's good manners to serve bread right on the platter in the juice along with the meat or vegetables.

A Clean Plate at the end of the meal is a patriotic meal today. Nothing left but the bones, and why serve many bones? They should be in the soup kettle. A little food left on your plate used to be a mark of good breeding. Today, it's unpatriotic.

Second Helpings, or even third helpings, are good manners today. Start with small helpings to avoid waste—especially desirable with children whose eyes may get ahead of their stomachs.

No Active Food Dilemmas for the Duration! Learn to like all kinds of different foods—some will have to take the place of foods that are scarce.

Stir Your Coffee or Tea just as much as is necessary to dissolve every bit of sugar. A polite war-aid.

Pick Up Disoriented Chicken with your fingers when it makes for ease of handling and less waste. Trying to cut fried chicken with a knife is often wasteful.

Satisfy That In-Between-Meals Hunger with a snack of milk and cookies or fruit and cookies. Good for your energy, your morale, and good wartime protection, too!

Bulloch County Invites Good Will

(The statement which follows herewith is that prepared by Mrs. Jesse O. Johnston, of Statesboro, and, at the invitation of Rhyne-Cook, of toprise, delivered recently in a radio broadcast over WSB, Atlanta.)

Most of my listeners are familiar with the lecture "Acres of Diamonds," and how the man sold his farm in Africa and went abroad seeking diamonds, while the man who bought the farm discovered "Acres of Diamonds" there.

I feel that that farm could well have been somewhere in Bulloch county, Georgia, for it is, indeed, rich in so many, many things better than diamonds. We have in Bulloch the best in the usual things towns of five thousand offer—good churches, a good hospital, good people, good business.

I will omit from my talk anything about the illustrious history of our town and county, of which we are justly proud, because you are already familiar with the history of Georgia and knew that Bulloch county has played her part in the history of our state. We want the eyes of Georgia to be focused upon our future history. We have many enterprises which set our county on a high level.

The first of these is our educational system. We have twelve consolidated schools, housed in good buildings to which buses transport Bulloch's children. Statesboro is the county seat, and her schools rank with the best in the state. In fact, if you were at the high school meet last year you were made aware of this fact by the number of medals in literary and athletic events which our children received. Along with our educational system I would call your attention to the Bulloch county library, which through its bookmobile touches every part of the county. Recently the library has established a negro branch.

The top of Bulloch's educational plan is the Georgia Teachers College. This college, one of the five senior units in the university system, is making an earnest effort to prepare teachers for the state of Georgia. The college is also stepping into the war effort and in the near future will adapt much of its time and training to patriotic pursuits.

Bulloch is one of the largest counties in the state, having 600 square miles. There are 2,000 farms, and this is the only county in Georgia having four master farmers.

The 1942 income from the farms was $6,755,000. The county has soil conservation district, county farm home agents, welfare office, forestry service, AAA office, Farm Security, Production Credit and National Farm Loan offices. There are 800 4-H club members, five chapters of the Future Farmers and twelve community home demonstration clubs.

The Ivanhoe Community Club built the first farmer-owned-operated meat curing plant in the United States, which operates at full capacity each year and saves about half on meat curing. There are two livestock markets in Bulloch which together sold 80,000 hogs in 1942 for $1,600,000. Cattle sold in Bulloch also rank first in numbers in Georgia, with 15,000 head sold for $650,000. Probably the Smithfield ham you had for Sunday dinner was grown right down in Bulloch county, since many of the hogs are sold to that company along with other well known firms. Bulloch's tobacco market is fifteen years old and sells around 5,000,000 pounds of tobacco annually.

Another great and growing enterprise is our new air field which is located about two miles from Statesboro. It is one of the most modern airports in the state. It has three runways averaging one mile each. The land occupied by the airport and at present is owned by Bulloch county and the city of Statesboro. The army has taken over the airport and at present it is being used in war training. Statesboro and Bulloch county have spent around $1,000,000 on the airport. After the war the airport will still be ours to operate commercially.

There are many other outstanding factors about Bulloch which I could mention, but these are contributing directly to our patriotic program. Education, food and airports are also the main thought in building our second "New South." Our first "New South" was created after the Civil War, and we were struggling for existence. We inherited that South and Georgia, which our forefathers created. But we shall pass on to posterity a state which is our own creative work. We cannot concentrate our thoughts on our history, but upon that history which lies ahead. We as counties in our beloved state of Georgia and as a part of America, must build and grow upon the foundations laid for us. What

Carr-Buncle Pains

By KERMIT R. CARR

"A man is never too old to learn," says an old proverb. Even the 45-year-olds are worrying about Uncle Sam taking that statement too seriously.

The old frontiersman used to say, "Another Redskin bit the dust." Nowadays we like to hear MacArthur say, "Another Jap ship hit the bottom."

Roses are red, Violets are blue, I filed my returns—How about you?

Some people think they are worth a lot of money because they have it. What shall it profit a man to gain untold wealth if he shall lose his own country?

We used to fill in long hours earning our money. Nowadays we fill out long forms spending it.

Most people do a great deal of thinking in quotation marks. OPA probably stands for "Our Peoples Adversity."

What the Adversity does NOT stand for: "Our Prayers Answered."

With all its frills it is still a plane war.

What would happen to our war effort if our soldiers were permitted to practice absenteeism like the highly paid defense workers?

Have you bought your share in America today?

Lanier Has Finished Intensive Training

Lt. Knox, March 16.—Upon completion of an intensive 45-day course in maintenance and repair of peeps and jeeps, scout cars and trucks that give the hard-hitting armored forces its speed of movement, a class of qualified automotive mechanics has been graduated today from the Armored Force School.

Among the graduates, announced, from the office of Lt. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding general of the Armored Force, was Cpl. Fred T. Lanier Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Lanier, of Statesboro.

The wheeled vehicle department is one of ten in the huge Armored Force School, headed by Col. J. A. Holly as commandant. The school operates on two seven-hour shifts six days a week. Students on the early shift march into the classroom at 6 a. m. and complete the day's program at 1 p. m. The second shift comes in behind them and works until 8.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. A. F. Smith; first vice-president, Mrs. Geraldine Olliff; second vice-president, Mrs. Robert L. Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mrs. John Wesley Chester.

does it profit us to build huge volumes of business if we lose the fundamental laws of honesty and faith? And what shall we gain if this efficiency robs us of time and joy in living? Now with the world in turmoil we feel like crying out for "time to stand still" while we enjoy the tranquil loveliness of our county and state. Bulloch county is a good place in which to live. While it is a very busy place, we still have time to enjoy our homes, families, and friends. We are grateful to our soldiers who are fighting and preparing to fight that we might still have this tranquil life. They love this land and we are conscious of the sacrifices they have made in leaving their homes in order to make them more safe. The people of Bulloch county are behind every war effort. They are buying bonds, gathering scraps, and working in home defense units. The women are knitting, taking nutrition courses, sewing and making surgical dressings. In five months we have made 115,000 dressings which have been shipped to our medical depots. There were 122,000 cans of fruit, vegetables, and meat preserved last year in the homes of Bulloch. This does not include the work done by the twelve canning plants in the county.

We would not be selfish with our enjoyment of our life here, and we would like to share with you the joys of life in Bulloch county. We would like for you to come and abide with us in this wonderful county of Georgia.

Did We Start Him?

HE WAS a bright little youngster of apparently twelve years—a stranger to us. As we stepped out of the office on a recent evening shortly after dusk, he was idling near the door. As we were about to pass him on the way up the street, he spoke cheerily, "Mister, do you live here?" Thus he began to get acquainted. As we walked along, he told how he had recently moved from a rural district, that his father was not regularly employed; that he had a brother overseas; that he was planning to be a soldier as soon as he was old enough. And thus he chatted until we had arrived opposite the picture show. Then he let his voice fall, as he sort of whispered, "I wouldn't want you to see me, but I wouldn't let you see me either. I'd like to see the picture show. It's a special picture, you know. I'll give it back to you Saturday."

He had us trapped; could we turn a boy down we had begun to like? We haven't seen the boy since then; we feared we wouldn't see him again. We feared the little quarter he had handed him was but a cultivation to his growing disposition which might make him an habitual sealer, seeking to live by his wits. We wondered if we hadn't done him more than a quarter's worth of harm—if it wouldn't have been better to compel him to stand on his own feet rather than crawl into the legs of strangers he meets thus casually? What do you say was our responsibility? If that boy grows in that habit, who is going to bear the burden for him when he reaches the age of responsibility? We hope if we have done him a harm, both he and society will forgive us.

Think you this was a mere coincidence, or a quirk of that fate which "shapes our ends rough, how them as we may"? Scarcely had our old Oliver been the last question mark to the lines above, and while it was yet quivering under the emotion of a keyboard still sizzling hot, when the front door opened and a couple of frowny heads were stuck inside the door. The smiling, tender-faced ladies were maybe about nine and eleven years. We have seen the boys many times—they are sort of young friends of ours who come this way as they trudge to and from school. Their faces were flushed, their moist hair hung down over their foreheads, and their white teeth show pleasantly. "Mister, don't you want to buy some kindling wood?" they asked in chorus. It wasn't a cold day, but how can one know in March that winter is entirely past? And while we were making up our mind, we played for time. "It's right here in front of the door; come and look at it," they said in unison. Too much trouble to move when you can still sit and ask questions, so we continued to verbally investigate. The boys spread their arms wide and high when asked about quantity; they spoke glowingly when asked about its quality; and they told us they had gone to the country and cut the wood and dragged it to town themselves. "How much do you want for it?" brought a reply, "A quarter, if you think it's worth that much."

And at the door was a little made-up wagon such as boys of that size would have put together with parts they might accumulate from a scrap heap; it was piled full of rich, burnable kindling wood—and "you can have it for a quarter, if you think it's worth that much."

These lads were not the kind who seeking to live by their wits—they were not afraid to sweat; they offered value received when they asked for a quarter. They piled the "kindling" wood high where they were told and were ready for the pay. How should it be divided equally between the two boys? You can't split a quarter evenly under our national system of currency. Which one demanded the extra penny? Each consented that we should give it to the other; there was no quibbling between them. They smiled when we gave each boy thirteen cents—and they hurried away up the street in the direction of the bank while we soliloquized as to the difference between these two young Americans willing to sweat for what they needed, and the boy about whom we had written the preceding paragraphs—the boy who had pan-handled us for a quarter to attend the picture show.

That was yesterday afternoon, March 17, 1943. In a day ahead—March 17th, 1993, fifty years hence—

INDUCE FARMERS GREATER EFFORT
Food Production Loans Made To Aid Farmers In Serving The Nation

Loans to farmers in Bulloch county who plan to do their part in producing food, feed, fiber and oil for America and her allies are being made by the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, according to Dorris R. Cason, chairman of the Bulloch County USDA War Board.

These applications are being approved by the chairman and Hal Roach, RACC representative of the county, Mr. Cason said.

"The purpose of these loans," he pointed out, "is to provide financing to assure top wartime production of essential commodities, but it is not a substitute for other sources of credit."

"We have a big food production job to do this year. Many of our farmers have available credit through their local banks, Production Credit Associations, National Farm Loan Associations, Emergency Crop and Feed Loan offices, and Farm Service Administration who need to supply their source, and still others who need to find a new source of credit in order to get the maximum wartime production of needed commodities. It is these farmers the RACC wants to help."

HAS NEW PROCESS TO HELP FARMERS
Forest Service Finds Chemical Stimulations Aids Turpentine Farmers

The U. S. Forest Service recommends using chemical stimulations in order to increase production and to help to relieve the labor shortage. Two methods of chemical stimulation are recommended for general use by the turpentine farmers. The forty percent sulphuric acid treatment is recommended to producers who do not have enough labor to put a streak on their timber every week. By this method it is possible to chip bi-weekly (chip every other week) and obtain as much gum as would be obtainable if a streak were put on every week. The forty percent solution of sulphuric acid is applied to the fresh streak immediately after it has been cut.

The 25 percent caustic soda (ordinary lye) solution is recommended where the producer has sufficient labor to put on a streak every week. This method will give approximately 40 percent increase in production over non-treated streaking. The caustic soda solution is applied every week to the fresh streak immediately after it is cut. The caustic soda and acid solutions are available already mixed in any quantity desired and may be applied to the fresh streak with a spray gun.

John G. Rawls, located at Statesboro, is the field inspector for the Naval Stores Conservation Program in this county and can give you full information relative to the use and application of the above chemicals in treating turpentine faces to produce more gum for the war effort.

How We Learn Things
LEARNING comes from trying new things, from doing old things in new ways, from asking questions. Somebody in holy writ uttered this rule, "prove all things; hold fast to that which is good."

There are some of us who are just naturally smarter than others of us. We know in advance whether a thing will fail or succeed; as soon as it fails, we are ready to declare, "I told you so." Now, about the management of things relating to the present world war, there has been a sort of orgy of "proving all things." Not in everything have we learned exactly what was worth holding onto, but already we have found out some of the things to be abandoned. For instance, there was that order about slicing bread. "Don't cut any more bread," said the war leader; "compel every housewife to slice her own." Maybe the man who issued the order was merely trying to prove something. There were some of us with a sense enough to know that the order was a mistake; but the man who issued the order was serious in his intention. Now he has found out what we wise people already knew—there was no good logic in the order unless it was merely to step toward regimenting civilians—teaching them to recognize war in the little matters of everyday life. Anyway, we are glad the order has been revoked; we have been getting bread in better shape since the revocation of the order.

Among the former Statesboro boys overseas none are more interested in the home activities than is Luther Armstrong, who is now lieutenant "down under"—possibly in New Guinea. In a letter to relatives here received during the week, Luther expressed extreme appreciation of the recognition which had been given him and other Statesboro boys by the church. "Learning of this," he said, "was my best boost in many years." Luther also mentioned the more or less regular receipt of copies of the Bulloch Times, and stated that he devours every line many times over. Luther is a half-brother of Mrs. Edwin Groover.

Leodel Coleman Now In Washington

Sgt. Leodel Coleman, of the United States Marines, formerly editor of the Bulloch Herald at Statesboro, is in Washington for indoctrination training and soon will be assigned to duty as a correspondent with the Marine Corps combat troops overseas.

Sgt. Coleman entered the Marine Corps on July 28 of last year, following his two brothers into the service and closing their weekly newspaper for the duration. The brothers plan to resume publication when the war is over.

Sgt. Coleman's two brothers, Jim and G. C. Jr., preceded him into the service by several months. Jim now is a captain in the Army Air Force stationed at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., and G. C. Jr. is a second lieutenant in the army paratroopers stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

Sgt. Coleman is a graduate of Georgia Tech and has been a newspaper man since graduation. He was ordered to Washington from Columbia, S. C., where he was stationed with the Marine Corps recruiting service.

HENDRIX TRANSFERRED

Sgt. John W. Hendrix, who has been cooking at Turner Field, Albany, Ga., since shortly after his enlistment in the air forces, spent a few days last week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hendrix, and with his brothers and their families, Arnold and Bill Hendrix, in Savannah. From there he went to Maxwell Field, Ala., to military school of cooking and bakery.

ASK the ski trooper why he welcomes ice-cold Coca-Cola. He will tell you what every ski enthusiast knows. Few things can make you thirstier than skiing. The dry cold, the exertion, the altitude do it. Experienced skiers know that Coca-Cola is the perfect refreshment after a ski run.

Coca-Cola not only quenches thirst. It adds refreshment that goes into energy. It is refreshment that tastes good, feels good, is good. Coca-Cola is made with choicest ingredients put together with a finished art.

Each time you raise an ice-cold Coca-Cola to your lips, you'll agree that the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself.

Even with war and so many Coca-Cola bottling plants in enemy-occupied countries, our fighting men are delighted to find Coca-Cola being bottled in so many places all over the globe.

Even with snow and ice outdoors, it's summertime indoors. Ice-cold Coca-Cola is the year 'round answer to thirst that everybody welcomes.

Between Us

Friday night there is to be a benefit dance at the Woman's Club, and it promises to be a very good dance.

This year Sara Morris and Mary Akins have been operating the lunch room at High School, and doing a grand job of it, too. With over 500 children to feed each day you can imagine by your own home how many dishes these children would break in nine months. So this dance is to replace some of these dishes. All the civic clubs in town have been contacted, and even those who do not dance have bought tickets to help out the cause. Since there has been so little going on especially in the past few months, we are sure the crowd will be there. Another red letter day on the calendar is March 19th, which is Doctors' Day. More than ever this year we want to remember these men who are so overburdened and yet who are never too busy to come when we call. This has been made a national day, and one visit to the offices on this day and it looks like a real flower garden with so many flowers about—Sunday being such a pretty day found everybody out in new spring clothes. Jane Proctor was no exception, and looked so pretty in bright red wool and a very pretty black and white straw hat. Lavinia Floyd was another who looked so pretty in a navy suit and navy straw. Working girls will be singing as soon as school is out for one of our pretty young ladies who teach out of town. The group will be taking her away to his home to live, quite a gifted musician, and always so nice about playing when asked.

The program the music club gave Tuesday night was certainly a credit to our town. The club gives one public performance each year, and this one was beautiful. We hardly realize the talent we have in our town until we hear one of their programs. Using most of the favorites, it was a program that everybody, from the youngest to the oldest, could enjoy. From far off Africa come two lovely gifts to two mothers who have sons serving in the armed forces. Several weeks ago Mrs. Orville McLemore received a pair of wedding shoes from her son, Morris. Of course they are not like the shoes we might expect to find over here, but quite a curiosity to see then a beautiful alligator bag came from B. H. Ramsey Jr. to his mother. She has no definite information he is Africa, but she is practically sure he is. Anyhow, the two gifts brought much joy to those mothers. Don't forget the cup, saucer and glass you were going to take down to the Service Club so the boys who drop in there can be served. Put that on your "Must Be" today—Will see you AROUND TOWN.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Royal and Mrs. Marvin Taylor were visitors in Millen Friday.

Mrs. Earl Driggers and son, Frankie, of Stillson, were visitors here Tuesday.

Mrs. Henry Ellis and little daughter, Nancy, are visiting relatives in Midville.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Darby, of Jacksonville, were visitors here during the week.

Mrs. Gene Trappell, of Metter, was the week-end guest of her cousin, Mrs. Denver Hall.

Miss Helen Olliff, of Griffin, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Olliff.

Miss Sara Stewart, of Macon, is spending several days as the guest of Miss Virginia Cobb.

Miss Lucile Kinger, of Jacksonville, Ga., and Registrar, was a visitor to the city Saturday.

Mrs. L. V. Simmons spent the week end with Sgt. Simmons, who is stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Miss Gladys Thayer, of Claxton, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thayer.

Mrs. Frank Gottis, of Dublin, was the guest during the week end of her mother, Mrs. Solie Prentiss.

Cpl. Cecil Mikell, of Gulfport, Miss., spent the week end with Mrs. Mikell and Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Mikell.

Mrs. B. Burns, Mrs. Hollingsworth and Mrs. Edwards, of Ogeechee, were visitors here Monday afternoon.

Robert Morris has returned to Marion Institute, Ala., after a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thad Morris.

Miss Carmen Cowart returned Tuesday to Brenau after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Cowart.

Miss Maxine Foy will leave today for the University of North Carolina after spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Inman Foy.

Mrs. Homer Melton is visiting relatives in Atlanta, Toccoa and Dublin. R. J. Proctor has returned from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cave at their home in Savannah.

J. W. Marshall, of Wadley, spent the week end with his daughter, Mrs. Roy Bray, and Mr. Bray and was accompanied home by Mrs. Marshall who spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Bray.

H. L. Kennon and Paul Kennon, of Atlanta, were visitors here Monday. Friends of Mrs. Kennon regret to learn of the death of her sister, Miss Edith Proctor, which occurred Saturday at her home in Woodbine.

FARM SECURITY BORROWERS HELP

Third of Nation's Milk For Last Year Came From This Important Group

More than a third of the nation's increase in milk production in 1942 came from 463,941 farms of Farm Security Administration borrowers, the Department of Agriculture reported today.

In terms of the nation's total increase, milk topped the list of products by these borrowers, according to results of a survey of their production. The Farm Security Administration, on the basis of its survey, reported that these families, constituting 7.9 per cent of the 6,000,000 operators listed by the 1940 census, increased their milk production by 1,419,000 pounds, or 36 per cent increase over their 1941 production, compared to a three per cent increase made by all farmers. All of this increase may not have been of course, a net increase, since some of the cows purchased in 1942 by FSA borrowers would have been milked by their original owners.

Significant increases by Farm Security borrowers were shown for other war-needed food crops. In terms of their own production the year before, these 1942 increases ranged from 20 to 100 per cent. In terms of the nation's total increase they also contributed 27 per cent of the nation's increase in dry beans and 10 per cent increase in eggs, chickens and peanuts.

These families were from the small farm group unable to get adequate credit from other sources. They operated with Farm Security Administration credit and supervision. Early in 1942, following January revision of the nation's war food goals as a result of the attack
